

Conflict Minerals Sourcing Policy

Globalstar, Inc. (“Globalstar” or the “Company”) recognizes that the trade of tin, tantalum, tungsten and gold (“Conflict Minerals”) may be funding the Democratic Republic of Congo (“DRC”) government’s armed conflict and human rights violations in the region surrounding the DRC.

Section 1502 of the Dodd Frank Act requires companies that are regulated through the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) to disclose annually whether the Conflict Minerals (or their derivatives) in their products originated from the DRC region, and to disclose the due diligence conducted on the Conflict Minerals source and chain of custody. Globalstar is committed to complying with these SEC regulations.

Using the guidance provided by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (“OECD”), Globalstar has implemented a due diligence program to identify the source of Conflict Minerals in our supply chain. Globalstar strives to provide DRC conflict free products by expecting that our suppliers obtain materials from environmentally and socially responsible sources, including conflict free sources within the DRC and adjoining countries. As part of this commitment, Globalstar exercises due diligence with its suppliers to confirm where Conflict Minerals used to manufacture its subscriber equipment are mined, smelted or refined.

Our Commitment:

- Globalstar believes in providing reliable, quality products manufactured from raw materials and components that are ethically sourced from Conflict Mineral free countries as defined by the U.S. Secretary of State (per the requirements of the U.S. Dodd-Frank Act).
- Globalstar fully understands the importance of this issue to its customers and we have engaged our suppliers to comply with the same.
- Globalstar has adapted the EICC Conflict Minerals data collection template for supply chain due diligence; this template enables a common industry approach for the collection of sourcing information related to conflict minerals.
- Suppliers are expected to cooperate in our efforts to comply with the Dodd-Frank requirements. In case of non-compliance, our suppliers will be reviewed accordingly for future business and sourcing decisions.
