

SIERRA ECHO

Globalstar Value Added Reseller

Company Presentation

Sierra Echo is a major supplier of Safety Equipment and Search and Rescue technologies in France. Their experience started with aviation beacons (ELT), they then rapidly took up the challenge of democratizing the use of personal beacons by offering them for rental. This service, known under the brand "oscoor.com", has already enabled hundreds of people to hike, sail or fly while enjoying real peace of mind.

They are also present on the rescue side as they supply Search and Rescue teams and private assistance companies with direction finders and other highly reliable safety equipment.

Sierra Echo was the first company in France to offer SPOT beacons and has developed a complete range of applications with this technology for man, machine, interface, geo-fencing, and geo-alert. Customers in this product range are professionals such as fire fighting, SAR teams, and security companies. SPOT is also used in leisure activities such as boating and glider races.
